When you make a purchase in a store outside your residence country, using a different currency, the purchase amount will be then converted in the official currency of your residence country based on exchange rate applicable on date of purchase and will be displayed in your Account in the official currency of your residence country.

The purchase amount and the voucher values as mentioned above include all taxes (excluding shipping costs). The voucher redemption conditions are displayed in this file below, and in any E-mail newsletter communication you might receive (please note the reception of any marketing communications will depend on existing permissions granted by you).
